

Full Details Gladly Given. A Railroad Official's Experience.

M. R. EDWARDS, long connected with railroad construction in Nebraska, writes: "My heart troubled and pained me for 19 years. Shortness of breath was the constant and most common symptom. Intense, excruciating pain, generally followed by severe nervous prostration, hunger without any appetite; fluttering that made me clutch my breast, and palpitation that often staggered me as if I would fall, were frequent attacks. Again, everything would turn black if I arose from a stooping posture quickly. Sleepless nights with their prostrating unrest were numerous and I could get no rest day or night. A consulted leading physicians and tried advertised remedies. They gave me no relief. One of Dr. Miles' circulars described my case so exactly that I took Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure and I am now a well man. I hope every one troubled with heart disease will try Dr. Miles' remedies. If they will write me personally, I will gladly give them full details of my experience." Edw. Edwards.

QUEEN'S GREAT DAY.

REMARKABLE JUBILEE PROCESSION IN OLD LONDON.

Her Escort the Flower of European Nobility and Troops That Came from All Parts of the Empire—Some of the Soldiers Briefly Described—Colonies All Represented—Tremendous Enthusiasm.

London, June 23.—The great day of the queen's jubilee has passed and the pageant that wound through the streets of the metropolis of the world was worthy of the city and the empire of which it is the capital. To tell of the gathering of the royalties and others at Buckingham palace yesterday morning would occupy columns. But the first appearance of the queen was a central feature of the celebration. The carriages of the envoys and many of the royalties and other distinguished persons had formed in line and proceeded on the route of march toward Constitution Hill when a platoon of the royal servants lined up on each side of the great door of the palace, and an inclined platform from the foot of the stairs to the place to be occupied by the queen's coach was placed in position and carefully tested by a Scotch gillie. After a momentary wait a hoarse roar of cheers, quickly started by the national anthem played by the band outside, announced the arrival of the Prince and Princess of Wales.

Sends a Message That Girdles the Earth.
The Prince of Wales mounted by the scarlet covered steps to the entrance of the palace and then the Hanoverian steeds slowly drew the queen's carriage into position. At 11:10 a. m. a bustle on the main staircase announced the coming of her majesty. Queen Victoria slowly descended the stairs, assisted by a scarlet-clad and white-turbaned Indian attendant. She was dressed in black, wore a black bonnet trimmed with white, and carried a white sunshade. At the foot of the stairway her majesty paused for a minute and touched an electric button connected with all the telegraphic system throughout the British empire, and it flashed around the world the message: "From my heart I thank my beloved people. May God bless them."

San Shines on Her Majesty.
Her majesty then slowly seated herself in her carriage, the royal trumpeters sounded a fanfare, the Princess of Wales joined the queen and then the Princess Christian of Schleswig-Holstein joined the party. Both the princesses seated themselves opposite her majesty and at 11:12 the queen's coach started. Two gillies in Highland costume, wearing the tartan of MacDonald of the Isles, the so-called crown prince of Scotland, occupied the rumble. As her majesty emerged from the portico the sun broke brightly through the clouds and the queen raised her sunshade. The Prince of Wales, the Duke of Cambridge and Duke of Connaught took up their places about her majesty's carriage and the latter took its place in the procession.

REPRESENTATIVES OF THE EMPIRE

Was the Procession That Escorted the British Queen Through London.

The queen's carriage was about the center of the procession as it was the center of interest to eight or ten million people. The procession was headed by an advance party of the Royal Horse guards. Then followed the band of the same corps, playing the inspiring "Washington Post March." Close upon the band came a portion of the picturesque northwest mounted police, as escort to the first colonial police, Hon. Wilfrid Laurier. The northwest police, men to whom authority a saddle has never been a novelty, made a striking appearance; quite as brave and serviceable-looking as the New South Wales mounted rifles, with their gray semi-sabres and black cock-plumes, who followed them, escorting the premier of New South Wales, Hon. S. H. Reid. The Victorian mounted troops followed, smart, weather-beaten fellows, in unattractive brown uniforms. Then came New Zealand's premier, Hon. Richard J. Seddon.

For the moment Australia gave way and Africa was allowed a chance; the Cape of Good Hope mounted rifles—well set up men—wearing scarlet, with white helmets, rode by to herald the coming of the Cape premier, the Hon. Sir J. Gordon Sprigg. K. C. M. G. Hardly had he passed when attention was claimed for the yellowish-brown Kharkies, lit with bright scarlet, which proclaimed the South Australian mounted troops. Lean, long specimens of wiry manhood, they won applause like the rest, and passed on to give place to the premier of Newfoundland, Hon. Sir W. Whiteway. From Newfoundland one was transported to Natal by the Natal mounted troops, a contingent similar in model and equipment to their Cape brethren-in-arms. Hon. H. N. Nelson, K. C. M. G., rode after them, the official personification of the western Australian. The premiers being disposed of, then succeeded a most attractive display, mounted troops of the crown colonies, the Rhodesian horse, the colonial infantry broken by three bands, typical of the United Kingdom, those of St. George's, the London Scottish and the London Irish rifle volunteer corps and others.

Then there passed the splendid contingent from Canada, infantry 175 strong, uniformed somewhat like the regular service infantry, with Colonel Aylmer leading. Following came the road addition, of which the Zaptiehs from Cyprus, divided the honors with the Dyaks of Borneo. Both are military police; the Zaptiehs were mounted on ponies and naturally wore the Turkish fez. The Borneo Dyaks, yellow-colored, smallish chaps, were eagerly expected by the crowd, owing to their head-hunting proclivities. The Trinidad field artillery, the Sierra Leone militia, the British Guiana police, with their white-curtained caps; the Hausas, in the familiar zouave costumes of long ago, and the Royal Niger Hausas—men who fought at Florin and Bida—were all blacks. The Hausas, the blackest of the blacks, were most enthusiastically greeted.

The second procession passed the palace fifty minutes after the colonials had climbed Constitution hill. It more than eloquently filled in the picture of Britain's war strength; more than magnificently completed the carnival of gorgeous costume and color. Scarlet and blue and gold, white and yellow, shining cuirasses and polished helmets, plumes and tassels, furs and gold and silver spangled cloths, bullion embroideries and accoutrements, splendid trappings for horses and more splendid for men, sashes and stars, crosses and medals—medals for the Crimea, Indian, Serpangapatam, the Nile, Ashanti, Afghanistan, Chitral, South Africa, China and dozens of others, and here and there the finest of them all, the finest and most highly prized the world can show, the Victoria Cross; death dealing weapons, swords and revolvers, carbines and cutlasses, batteries of artillery; men of splendid physique and horses with rare action fully entered into the spirit and meaning of it all; the fondly carried colors for which those men would die, and over all the rich strains that their music best loved to hear—the sight was one to stir the blood as only soldiers have stirred it since the dawn of time.

Then came her majesty! Wherever she appeared in the six miles of procession there the British cheer—which had been keeping the air a-shake for those who had preceded the royal carriage—swelled louder and louder until the very earth trembled. Her escort was composed of the flower of European and British nobility, and the military and civil officials of the British empire. At historic Temple Bar the carriage stopped a moment, for this is the gate of the City, and the lord mayor in the ceremony of old gave his obeisance to the queen. At St. Paul's another stop was made and here a brief religious service was performed—the singing of a Te Deum, the offering of prayers and the benediction by the archbishop of Canterbury. The service took place at a temporary altar built outside of the church.

And then St. Paul's bells, which had been ringing from the time the procession started until it stopped for the service, broke out again and joined the roar of cheers from the masses of tens of thousands of loyal Britishers—packed solidly as far as one could see, in street, in windows, on balconies, on housetops—in a grand swelling cyclone of sound that was enough to lift one off his feet. The roar kept pace with the procession round the whole route, until the queen was again at Buckingham palace, when the throngs looked forward next to the festivities of the night.

THE WORK IN CONGRESS.

Synopsis of the Proceedings of the National Lawmakers.

Washington, June 22.—The senate made giant stretches on the tariff bill yesterday, covering fifty-six pages and establishing a record for progress during this tariff debate. The last two schedules of the dutiable list, covering paper and manufactured sundries, were completed, with the exception of the paragraphs on hides, gloves, coal and some lesser articles, which went over. This advanced the senate to the free list, which was taken up at 2 p. m. and completed in three hours. Early in the day the wool and silk schedules went over with an agreement that wool would be taken up today. After that the tobacco schedule, the reciprocity provisions and the internal revenue portions of the bill, as well as the many isolated paragraphs passed over, remain to be considered. The progress yesterday was so marked, however, that for the first time there was a feeling that the end was not far off.

The house passed a bill to appropriate $100,000 for the repair of dry dock No. 3 at the New York navy yard, and after receiving a favorable report on a joint resolution permitting foreign exhibitors at the Omaha exposition under stringent provisions to bring laborers into the United States to take charge of exhibits, adjourned until Thursday.

Madeline Pollard in England.
London, June 21.—Miss Madeline Pollard, who was the plaintiff in the sensational suit against former Representative W. C. P. Breckinridge, of Frankfort, Ky., and who disappeared after the trial which resulted in a verdict in her favor for $15,000 damages, has been living quietly in London. She is apparently in good circumstances, and is understood to be studying with the view of engaging in literary work. She intends to make England her home.

Bear Admiral Brown Retired.
Washington, June 21.—Earl Admiral George Brown, until within the last few weeks in command of the North Atlantic fleet, was placed on the retired list Saturday on account of age. Admiral Brown is at present at his home in Indiana, from which he was appointed to the navy when only 14 years of age. Since the war he has held many important commands and has been for several years the ranking officer of the United States navy.

"WORN OUT."

A COMMON EXPRESSION USED BY AMERICAN WOMEN.

Many do not realize the Full Significance of Those Two Words.

When a woman is nervous and irritable, head and back ache, feels tired all the time, loses sleep and appetite, has pains in groins, bearing-down sensation, whites and irregularities, she is not "worn out," but feels as if she were.

Such symptoms tell her trouble is imminent, and she cannot act too promptly if she values her future comfort and happiness. The experience and testimony of some of the most noted women of America, go to prove beyond a question that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will correct all such trouble at once by removing the cause and restoring the organs to a healthy and normal condition. If in doubt, write Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., as thousands of women do.

Here is a lady who says:—"Let me add my name to your list of testimonials. For years I suffered with such a weakness of the back I could not stand straight. I had terrible pains in my womb. The doctor said an operation must be performed, as there was no other way to be cured. I was afraid to have the operation performed, and kept trying the medicines that I saw advertised. At last I tried yours. After taking three bottles I felt like a new woman. I recommend it to every woman, and cannot praise it enough, for it saved me from the surgeon's knife."—Mrs. MARK BUCH, Dolgeville, N. Y.

Order by Mail.
No greater aid to the shopping community has ever been devised than the Mail Order System. Ladies living at a distance and occupied with the various duties of life cannot always find time to visit the city to purchase the various articles they may desire. To them the system is invaluable. They may be a thousand miles away, but still can purchase their goods as easily and satisfactorily as if they were to visit our store in person. A postal card directed to us will bring you a price list of goods or any samples you may desire to see. You can then at once order the goods and make your selections without the bother of going to market, and thus escape all the crowding and jostling that is incidental to the large dry goods houses. Our Mail Order Department is well equipped with the most experienced salespeople attend to your wants. They are alive to the swift-changing fashions; their experience in the business teaches them which are the most serviceable and stylish goods. The customer at a distance has sometimes a decided advantage over those in the hands of a salesman who knows all about the goods to be selected. He will not make any mistake, and he selects articles that he knows will give the best satisfaction; whereas there are cases when you would not make such judicious purchases yourself.

YOU WANT THE BEST FOR THE PRICE.
This We Guarantee. Send us for anything in Dry Goods, Carpets, Draperies, Cloaks, Millinery, Parasols, Boys' Clothing, Shoes (Ladies' and Children's), Books, Corsets, or Small Wares, and we will give you our best service, guaranteeing everything to be satisfactory or money refunded.
